

SCHOOL FOOD MATTERS
Safeguarding Policy

1. Policy Statement

The majority of our work is office-based and on-site working with schools and partner organisations. On occasion, School Food Matters may work directly, under supervision, with schools and other youth organisations.

For the protection of children, and to justify public trust and confidence, School Food Matters is required to ensure that only suitable staff and/or volunteers are allowed to undertake work that brings them into regular contact with children. School Food Matters uses the Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) to assess the suitability of staff and volunteers.

School Food Matters believes that it is always unacceptable for a child or young person to experience abuse of any kind and recognises its responsibility to safeguard the welfare of all children and young people, by operating within practice that protects them.

We recognise that:

- The welfare of the child/young person is paramount
- All children regardless of age, disability, gender racial heritage, religious belief, sexual orientation or identity have the right to equal protection from all types of harm or abuse
- All staff (paid/unpaid), Trustees of School Food Matters have a responsibility for child protection and safeguarding in the delivery of our services
- Working in partnership with children, young people, their parents, carers and other agencies is essential in promoting young people's welfare

The purpose of this policy:

- To provide protection for the children and young people who use School Food Matters services including the children of adult members or users
- To provide staff and volunteers with guidance on procedures they should adopt in the event that they suspect a child or young person may be experiencing or be at risk of harm

We will seek to safeguard children and young people by:

- Valuing, listening to, and respecting children and young people
- Adopting child protection guidelines through procedures and a code of conduct for staff and volunteers
- Recruiting staff and volunteers safely ensuring all necessary checks are made
- Sharing information about child protection and good practice with staff and volunteers
- Sharing information about concerns with agencies who need to know and involving parents and children appropriately
- Providing appropriate support to staff and volunteers through supervision and training

Assessing risk in relation to all our activities, focussing on prevention, and minimising risk and putting in place plans that safeguard the public using our services. e.g. clear evacuation procedures, securely locked storage for equipment. Processes include:

- Always working in an open environment, where possible avoiding private or unobserved situations
- Treating all young people fairly with respect and dignity
- Being an excellent role model e.g. not smoking, drinking alcohol or eating unhealthy food in the company of young people
- Keeping a written record of any injury or incident that caused harm (including verbal attacks) along with any steps taken

2. Procedures for Referral

Any member of a staff or volunteer who receives a disclosure of abuse or suspects that abuse may have occurred must report it immediately to the Designated Safeguarding Officer, in the case of School Food Matters, the Chief Executive or if unavailable the Finance Manager.

The member of staff or volunteer must then complete a Reporting Form which must be signed and dated and sent to the Designated Safeguarding Officer.

The Designated Safeguarding Officer will immediately inform the relevant local authority children's social care Initial Response Team (IRT) and will follow up in writing, detailing what was discussed and any actions arising.

In an emergency phone 999 (e.g. if there is risk of injury or death)

Confidentiality must be maintained and information relating to individual children and young people/families shared with staff on a strictly need to know basis.

If the member of staff or volunteer is concerned about how child protection issues are being handled by the Designated Safeguarding Officer, they can contact the NSPCC Whistleblowing Advice Line on 0800 028 0285 or email help@nspcc.org.uk

3. Alleged Abuse or Concerns About Behaviour by Staff or Volunteers

When an allegation or concern about behaviour is made against a member of staff or volunteer then it must be passed to the Designated Safeguarding Officer.

The Designated Safeguarding Officer must then make a referral to the relevant local authority children's social care team. The local authority officer contacted will record a note of the consultation and will advise on the appropriate action that needs to be taken.

If an allegation or concern about behaviour is made against the Designated Safeguarding Officer then it must be passed to the Chair of Trustees.

Please see Appendix 1 for possible signs of abuse.

4. School Involvement

Our Safeguarding Policy, which includes contact details for the Designated Safeguarding Officer, is displayed on the School Food Matters website and will be made available to schools for review on request.

7. Definitions

“Designated Safeguarding Officer” refers to the member of staff responsible for child protection issues. In the case of School Food Matters this is the Chief Executive or, if they are unavailable, the Finance Manager.

“Physical Abuse” refers to when a child is hurt or injured by a child or an adult. Physical abuse may involve hitting, shaking, throwing, poisoning, burning or scalding, drowning, suffocating or otherwise causing physical harm to a child. It also includes giving a child harmful drugs or alcohol. Female genital mutilation is a form of physical abuse which is illegal in the UK. Physical harm may also be caused when a parent or carer feigns the symptoms of, or deliberately causes ill health to a child they are looking after. A person might do this because they enjoy or need the attention they receive by having a sick child.

“Emotional Abuse” is when adults deny children love or affection, or constantly threaten or humiliate them. Sarcasm, degrading punishments and ignoring a child are also forms of emotional abuse and undermine a child's confidence and sense of self-worth. Emotional abuse is the persistent emotional maltreatment of a child such as to cause severe and persistent adverse effects on the child’s emotional development. It may involve serious bullying, causing children frequently to feel frightened or in danger, or the exploitation or corruption of children. Some level of emotional abuse is involved in all types of maltreatment of a child, though it may occur alone.

“Sexual Abuse” is when a child is used sexually by an adult or young person. Sexual abuse can include kissing, touching the child's genitals or breasts, vaginal or anal intercourse and oral sex. Encouraging a child to look at pornographic magazines or videos is also sexual abuse. Bullying, racism and other types of discrimination are forms of child abuse. Like other kinds of abuse, they can harm a child physically and emotionally. Sexual abuse includes sexual exploitation, such as forcing or enticing a child or young person to take part in sexual activities, including prostitution. Boys and girls can be sexually abused by males and/or females, by adults and by other young people.

“Neglect” Is the persistent failure to meet a child's basic physical and/or psychological needs, likely to result in the serious impairment of the child's health or development. Neglect may occur during pregnancy as a result of maternal substance abuse. Once a child is born it may involve a parent or carer failing to provide adequate food, shelter and clothing, failing to protect a child from physical harm or danger, failure to ensure adequate supervision (including the use of inadequate care givers) or the failure to ensure access to appropriate medical care or treatment. It may also include neglect of, or unresponsiveness to, a child's basic emotional needs.
